

As part of the agreement, Huawei will manage du's network operations, including mobile, fixed and broadcasting platforms.

Commenting on the partnership, Fahad Al Hassawi, chief human resources and shared services officer, du, said, "We have worked with Huawei on several key projects in the past, and today marks the evolution of our relationship as we take our partnership to a new high. Our primary focus in all of our actions is to provide the ultimate customer services experience. To achieve this, we seek ways in which we can develop our network and the services that we can offer to our customers, which is precisely what our new agreement with Huawei will achieve."
