Ericsson announces the appointment of Fredrik Jejdling as the new head of its operation in India, Nepal & Bhutan effective June 1, 2011. Jejdling has more than 13 years of experience in sales and from the global services organisation. He brings extensive leadership and experience from the telecom industry to his new role.

Hans Vestberg, president and CEO of Ericsson says “I am happy to announce the appointment of Fredrik Jejdling as head of Ericsson India. We have made significant progress in India under Gowton’s leadership and I am confident that we will continue to build on our customer relationships and grow our India business”.

“The Indian market is very dynamic and growing rapidly. Ericsson has played an important role in its telecom development for more than 100 years. The telecom industry in India is transforming with advent of 3G and LTE and we expect to remain in the forefront to empower its people, business and society,” says Fredrik Jejdling.
